communities, including Irish, Jewish, Italian, and later, Puerto Rican populations. This diversity laid the foundation for a vibrant cultural landscape.

In the mid-20th century, the neighborhood became a hub for manufacturing and industrial activity, fostering economic opportunity. However, the decline of industry during the 1960s and 1970s, coupled with systemic disinvestment, led to urban decay, rising poverty, and a spike in crime. Resilience and Revival

Despite these challenges, the South Bronx has experienced periods of renewal. The rise of hip-hop culture in the 1970s, graffiti art, and street fashion emerged as forms of expression and resistance.
